Become a Registered Assessor

and
Be one jump ahead!

Assessors must be registered.
To register you need a certificate against the unit standard:
Conduct Outcomes-based Assessment

We offer accredited assessor training in three different workshop options:

- Regular scheduled public three-day courses (for more details visit our website)
- In-house three-day courses for organisations or sectors
- Our famous Power Course offered over five days and includes the assessment.

Prices for the last two options can be negotiated and will vary depending on the number of participants.

Do assessor training with us and get:

- results within four weeks of handing in your portfolio
- an understanding of how to do assessments at work

Who should be trained as assessors?

- Line staff such as supervisors responsible for assessment in the workplace
- HR and HRD practitioners
- Teachers, lecturers and trainers.

What entry qualification is needed?

All you need is a qualification or experience in the occupation or subject matter that you assess.

How long does it take?

Our regular generic courses and in-house courses run over three days. After the training you need to complete a Portfolio of Evidence.

The Power Course takes five days and assessments are done in the workshop.

What you learn

Our workshop equips you to understand:

- the NQF system and the Skills Development Act
- assessment principles and methods
- assessment processes and procedures
- evidence gathering and presentation
- recognition of prior learning
- how to develop a portfolio of evidence.

Assessment College has a longstanding reputation for offering quality education and training. We have been ISO 9001:2008 listed since 2001 and have maintained our status throughout. Our sophisticated learner record data base ensures that learners get their results four weeks after the portfolios are handed in. Certification follows shortly afterwards.

Public workshop training usually takes place twice a month in Gauteng.

Enrol now via our website or contact Leon on 011 678 0126 or leon@assess.co.za to send you an enrolment form.

We can also do a quote on in-house training for 8 or more learners. Please send your requirements to assessment@assess.co.za.

If you have already done assessment training, we can help you get certificated by doing an RPL assessment. Contact rita@assess.co.za for more information.

Why be average if you can be the BEST?

For those who really want to master the art of assessment, assessment design and moderation / IV, Assessment College offers a MASTER OUTCOMES-BASED ASSESSMENT skills programme. This skills programme gives you in-depth knowledge about assessment practices, processes and instruments. It consists of a cluster of four unit standards structured into three workshops. You gain 39 credits towards the Occupational Directed ETD qualification by doing this course. In aid of best learning practices we recommend that the three workshops be spread over a period of three months.
